Goal: The Sacramento Metro area is filled with writing talent many of whom are published authors. The Market Place wants to bring writers, editors, agents, and audience together in an event designed to celebrate and encourage published and yet-to-be published authors.

Authors Among Us is a 9-day celebration of writing that kicks off and ends with two weekend-long author-signing events.

The Market Place is dedicated to celebrating not only those who know they are writers, but also those who have the passion to write but may be shy about sharing their talents with the public.

Writers young and old (and all those in between) are invited to attend, participate, and be inspired.

Most of all, we want to show the public just how many "authors" there are among us that might encourage more people to write and to get published.

The Market Place: It's not only a home improvement mall that's home to over 90 local businesses, but also it's a lively, interactive community of local artists and writers.
