

Meet the Authors in our Midst!

Spotlight on Authors from the Sacramento Branch of the California Writers Club

Sunday, May 15, 2016 11 am-1 pm

Meet seven terrific local authors and learn more about writers' support, special events, and networking opportunities!

Jo Chandler, author of the award-winning young adult novel, This Side of Forever – a gritty, scary, and ultimately inspirational tale about 16 year-old Annie Bloom's descent into alcohol abuse after her best friend's death in a drunken car crash.

Kathy Boyd Fellure is a photographer, dog-lover, and antique-collector – and the author of The Blake Sisters Adventures children's series and the dramatic adult books, The Tahoe Trilogy.

David Hagerty started his career as a police reporter and worked as a teacher in a county jail. His novel, They Tell Me You Are Wicked, was inspired by an infamous event that occurred in his hometown, the killing of a political candidate's daughter.

Steve Liddick spent decades as a broadcast journalist before retiring to full-time writing. His first novel, All That Time, is about a 55 year-old man who travels back 40 years in time to face the bullies who impacted his life into adulthood.

Richard Steele was a helicopter pilot during the Viet Nam War. His novel, The Money Run, is set in that era, and won first place for fiction in the Northern California Publishers and Authors 23rd Annual Writing Contest.

Nanci Lee Woody's novel, Tears and Trombones (based on the true story of a Depression-era boy who wants to become a musician), won an Independent Publishers Award for "Best Fiction in the Western Pacific Region."

Margie Yee Webb, president of the California Writers Club, Sacramento Branch, is the author and photographer of the award-winning gift book, Cat Mulan's Mindful Musings: Insight and Inspiration for a Wonderful Life.
